become accustomed to looking auton western cities as the resorts of footpads and other kinds of holdup men will discover that there are no dark streets in Denver where a footpad may operate. Perhaps in no other city of the nation is electric light employed as a permanent police force. Of course there are living policemen, too, but the city fathers of Denver some time ago put in operation a unique lighting system with a particular intention toward making robbery a difficult and perilous pastime. Even the alleys are brifliantly lighted, so that the crook finds little chance to operate. As a result of the electric police force nocturnal robberies and assaults are scarcely known

The trip is a matter of thrills as the fretful porcupine's exterior is full of quills. Past gold climbs up the mountains, the track winding around and up so that at Georgetown it crosses over itself twice. In case two miles high is too low for satisfaction, there is still higher climbing by rail. The road which climbs Gray's peak, not far from Denver, is the "highest up" railway in the world. In a zigzag fashion the train crawls up the mountain wall until all around the amazed tourist lies perpetual snow and within his range of vision are 182 mountain peaks of the mighty Rocky range. This high line is something new, having been in operation but two seasons. The altitude reached by this railway is 14,000 feet, considerably more than two and a half miles. Should further thrills be sought after these the passenger may make a one day trip into the Royal gorge and return. Another trip is that into the wonderful gold fields of Cripple Creek and their vicinity, which, in the language of an enthusiast, is "a one day trip that bankrupts the English language." A night's ride from Denver is Glenwood Springs, the beautiful watering place. A similar distance is the Pike's Peak region, with Colorado Springs, Manitou Springs and the cog road up Pike's Peak and the drive through the astounding Garden of the Denver itself is about fifteen miles from the mountains, though the marvelously clear atmosphere causes the stranger to imagine that he can walk to the mountains and get back before breakfast. Gold and silver are by no means the only products of Colorado. In the delightful little valleys and on the plateaus around Denver one may see the prettiest of farms, agriculture being made possible and profitable through irrigation.

Denver is at the junction of the South Platte river and Cherry creek. Along the banks and in the bed of Cherry creek, right in the city, used to be placer gold in paying quantities. For that matter, anybody in Denver today may go down to the creek with a pan and wash out $1 or $2 worth of gold dust in a day's work. "Is that so?" exclaimed an excited tourist who recently visited Denver and heard this fact casually mentioned. "Why, I don't see anybody down there looking for gold. Why don't you folks take advantage of your opportuaround loose?"

The informant, a Denverite, smiled softly.

"Why," he replied, "there's nobody in Denver poor enough to have to work for $2 a day, so what's the use?"

Colorado is the only state in the Union which has a preacher for governor. The Rev. Dr. Henry A. Buchtel, chancellor of the University of Denver, is the chief executive of the state. Another interesting political fact is that women vote in Colorado on equal terms with men for any candidate, cessful candidates prior to the great to eliminate the foul air. "BLEST BE THE TIE."

How the Familiar Old Hymn Came to Be Written,

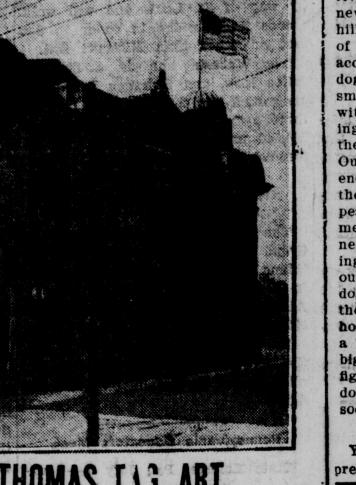

Not one in a thousand of those who sing that good old hymn "Blest be the tie that binds" knows the history of its homely origin. According to the Church Eclectic, it was written by the Rev. John Fawcett, who in the latter part of the eighteenth century was the pastor of a poor little church in Lockshire, England. His family and responsibilities were large, his salary was less than four dollars a week.. In 1772 he felt himself obliged to accept a call to a London church. His farewell sermon had been preached, six wagons loaded with furniture and books stood by the door. His congregation, men, women and chilren were in an agony of tears. Mr. Fawcett and his wife sat down on a packing case and cried with the others. Looking up, Mrs. Fawcett said: "Oh, John, John, I cannot bear this! er," said he; "nor will we go. Unload the wagons and put everything back in its old place." His letter of acceptance to the London church was recalled and he wrote this hymn to com-

Dog Evidently Had Reasoned Out the Situation.

C. B. Shockley, who lives across the river, was recently plowing in some new ground near the edge of the river hills, says an Oklahoma correspondent of the Kansas City Journal. He was accompanied by a half-grown shepherd dog. The dog in hunting went over a small hill and soon came kiting back with a coyote close to his heels. Seeing the man the coyote ran back and the dog plucked courage to follow. Out of sight of his master he weakened and came back over the hill with the coyote after him. This was repeated several times, to the amusement of Mr. Shockley, who offered neither counsel nor assistance, meaning to see how the dog would figure it out. He had not long to wait. The dog sat down and seemed to think over the situation, and then started for the house on a keen run. He was back in a very short time, accompanied by a big dog whose reputation as a coyote fighter was established. The young dog led the old one over the hill and soon the coyote had disappeared.

Since 1832 the Democrats have held quadrennial conventions, and eight of them, including the first, have met at Baltimore.

At President Jackson's instance the convention which named candidates for the election of 1836 met May 20, 1835, nearly eighteen months prior to election day, thus giving Martin Van Buren and Richard M. JAPANESE SEEK TO RENDER PORT ARTHUR IMPREGNABLE

Defenses Being Reconstructed on New Plan and the Town Is Practically Given Over to the Military Authorities.

In view of the renewed interest in Port Arthur by the recent condemnation of Gen. Stoessel, it may be interesting to translate from the Voice of Moscow portions of the article of a Russian correspondent in that great Japanese fortress, who seems to be particularly observant, says the New

He says that Port Arthur and Dalny have changed very much since the war. Under Russian rule Port Arthur was an international town, full of life. and after the Japanese came into possession of it it promised to be even livelier than ever. The roads were repaired, the quays renewed, the water supply improved, Japanese and Chinese merchants began to establish themselves in the town and business houses began to be built.

But suddenly something happened All at once Port Arthur became city of the dead. Business men quietly abandoned their shops, builders left their uncompleted buildings, and from that time up to the present no private individual has begun any new build ing in Port Arthur. The great supplies of provisions and other goods were sent back to Japan or into other parts of Manchuria. But none except the Japanese knew what was the word that had gone forth.

In the con struction of the fortifications great at tention has been paid to the selection of the best positions whence a plung ing fire can be concentrated on the passage through the hills in front and in order to attain this end constant practice firing is carried on.

The landward side is protected by long-range guns mounted in excellent forts. At one point alone there are 120 guns. On the seaward side rows of guns are visible-many of these guns were taken from the Russians.

Trial firing is carried on more and more frequently at night with the help of reflectors and to assist the gun ners a whole series of signal stations has been erected on the hills. At the bottom of both harbors and out along the seacoast up to a distance of two miles from the fortress some sort o work is being carried on; perhaps pure white and Bob has freckles all mines are being laid. All the way to Mukden strategic positions are being selected and pre pared and strategic roads are being run through the mountains.

As for Dalny, it is strongly fortified on the landward side, the entire en virons of the village of Loukku having been converted into fortress positions and guns have been mounted there On the seaward side Dalny is more weakly fortified, but on the whole it is very much more strongly defended than when the Russians were in poses

For the last week the president and the various war department bureaus in Washington have been bombarded by angry letters and telegrams from firms representing the large mills, the commission houses and the government contractors.

So serious has been the assault that President Roosevelt himself has taken an acute interest in the subject, fearing the effect of such a tactical blunder in a presidential year upon the effect of the Taft candidacy, and has given assurances that steps will be taken immediately through the war department to correct any injustices that may have been done to the American manufacturers and mil! workers.

From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, accompanied with catarrhal discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, or hang-on-coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. TWO CLASSES REALLY HAPPY. Those Born to Wealth and Those Who Have Sufficient.

There are really only two classes of happy people on earth-the people who work hard for their simple needs, and the people who are educated from birth to enjoy their wealth and the leisure which it brings. The middle class is eternally regretting either the days of happy poverty or the unattained days of enjoyable leisure. The daughter of a multi-millionaire cannot be happy in the lonely drudgery of a cottage, and the daughter of poor folk, who has struggled all her life and who has never had the advantages to fit her for a life of leisure can never be happy in a gilded parlor where she has nothing to do but fold her hands. She does not know the game well enough to even reverse the twirling of her idle thumbs. There is nothing more pathetic in all the world than the hard-working business man who has retired upon a fortune which he grows to hate because of the inactivity which it enforces-unless it be his wife, who suddenly finds all of her share of life in the care of servants and has nothing with which to replace it.

Convention Hall, Denver, Colo., July 7.-A strong cordon of police was stretched about the Denver Auditorium when the delegates to the national convention began to arrive this morning. The sidewalks were roped off to assist the officers in handling the crowds of curious that began to gather about the hail early in the day. On the two sineets fronting the Auditorium great banks of snow gave a cool greeting to the visitors. From the mountain heights the snow had been brought down to this mild level on a special train and harled through the city in carts of various descriptions. The day was by no means hot, and the only effect of the snow was the novelty of an icy street scene in July.

The doors of the hall were unbarred at 11:10 a. m. and the crowd began hurrying inside. An oil namting of ex-President Grover Cleveland faced the rostrum with those of other notables. A splendid band furnished

New York, July 7.-The twentythree delegates to the national convention of the socialist labor party nominated for president of the United States Martin R. The nomination was unanimods and was made regardless of the fact that a convict has no civil rights.

"This is the first time in the history of socialism that a man in such circumstances has been nominated," said Prof. Daniel C. De Leon, 'and it should bring to him the votes of honest thinking workingmen. He will

MIRTHFUL CAMPAIGN.

Ha! ha! ha! We are to have the merriest presidential campaign that was even seen, says the Philadelphia Record Good humer is to pervade the atmosphere. Jollity is to dominate everything, as at Yuletide in Merrie England of ancient days. Smiles will spread from the Rio Grande to the Great Lakes, and roars of laughter will shake the country, from Cape May to Cape Nome.

We all know what a jovial man Mr. Taft is. For a decade we have had described to us his winning smile, his infectious laughter, his enjoyment of a joke, his effervescent spirits, his unfailing cheerfulness under all circumstances, Here's for Taft and Sherman, the men of sunny countenance and shaking sides! Here's to happiness and hilarity! Really, it's too funny; we can't help laughing.

Saxon Railroads Well Run and Pay Good Dividends.

The report for 1906 of the administration of the Saxon state trailroads shows them to be as financially successful as the Prussian and Bavarian Saxony has about £50,000,000 in vested in her railways. In 1906 the gross revenue was £7,600,000, an increase of nearly £600,000 for the year. The total outgoings were £5,000,000, an increase of £240,000 over 1905. Thus the net profits to the Saxon government on the working of its railways for 1906 amounted to the substantial sum of £2,600,000, or over five per cent. on the capital. So that all interest and sinking fund charges are easily met and a balance left over in relief of taxation. Causes of Railroad Accidents.

According to the records of the interstate commerce commission there were 7,432 derailments on railroads in the United States during the year ending June 30, 1907. These accidents resulted in the death of 515 persons and the injury of 6,595. This was an increase of 1,871 derailments over the previous year, with a proportionate increase in fatalities and injuries. study of the causes shows that a little more than two-thirds of these accidents were due to defects in equipment, the remainder to defects in roadway. The trouble is attributed largely to the enormous increase in traffic, which in recent years has exceeded the carrying capacity of the roads, necessitating the use of every car and engine capable of running, and subjecting the permanenent structures to unexampled strain.

Rapid and Good Work. A gang of Great Northern railroad engineers and platelayers one recent Sunday gave a remarkable display of rapid bridge-building, according to an English newspaper. A bridge outside Harringay station over the Midland railway's line had to be widened, and two enormous girders were constructed. During the week supports for the girders were built under the old bridge, and as soon as the heavy traffic of the Saturday night had been dealt with gangs of men, working in relays, pulled up the rails, demolished the old bridge, and carted the debris away. By eight p. m. both girders had been hoisted into position, and at midnight the permanent way was in

WITHOUT A THOUGHT OF FEAR. Behavior of American Troops in the Face of Awful Death.

One of the most remarkable events in the annals of American arms occurred at Fort Crook, Neb., the other day when a tornado struck the place. As the dispatches tell the story: "When the officers realized that a tornado had struck the post 600 men of the Sixth regiment were brought to battalion formation and in the midst of flying slate roofs and other debris they were marched across the parade ground to the substantial buildings, where they were put 'at rest,' and took to the cellars. The fort was damaged to the extent of $100,000."

History and fiction alike have dwelt upon the dauntless spirit of men who have manifested their willingness to "charge the gates of hell or scale the heights of heaven." but doubtless no better illustration of this spirit was ever given than when this devoted band of American soldiers at Fort Crook formed ranks to "do or die" together in the face of a resistless tornado, says the Kansas City Journal.

Those who have never viewed the fury of one of these terrible outbursts of the angry elements cannot imagine the dreadful reality of the scene, with the heavens blacker than hight, the darkness intensified by blinding flashes of lightning, the terrors of the storm multiplied by the terrific crashes of heaven's artillery, and the air filled with swirling clouds which hide all else but the awful figure of death, the ghastly funnel-shaped cloud which makes gigantic leaps along the ground, uprooting trees and whirling houses, animals and human beings through the air on the wings of the death-dealing wind. heart and to cause the human mind to comment among the judges of the realize the utter impotence of man in county court. the presence of angry nature. The charge of the Six Hundred at Balaklava was a trivial incident of military duty compared with the steadfast discipline of the 600 American soldiers at Fort Crook, who coolly formed in line round house employe, and Miss Clara and braved the tornado's fury as tine duty.

It makes no difference whether the courts are acting in excess of their jurisdiction or strictly within their delegated powers. In either case the people have a right to throw additional safeguards around human liberty. There can be no reflection upon the honesty of the courts in the passage of a measure that will confine the equity powers of the federal judiciary within such bounds as the people of the United States, through the legislative branches of their government may determine. Battle for Self-Government.

We have something to do in this convention besides pointing out evils and taking the republican party to task for the part it has played in creating and perpetrating abuses. Democracy is once more called to the ples of self-government. It must wage an uncompromising war for the hands of the people, and this means that the phalanx of special interests must be broken. The triumph of the people can come only through the democratic party, for the life of its chief political opponent is so absorbed into the artificial life of the monopolies and trusts that it excludes the hope that the republican part; will ever be able or willing to regain a separate existence where it can honestly discharge its duty to the people.

With the power and opportunity to carry out democratic principles, we will be called upon to revise our tariff laws in the interests of the whole people. the peace of the world. A White Man's Country.

This magnificent western country of ours has not only proved attractive to our own people and the other white nations of the earth, but it has likewise proved alluring to the brown and yellow races of the east. Some protection has been afforded by the exclusion of Chinese labor, but the evil is but half met if the immigration of Japanese, Koreans, Hindus and other Asiatic people be not excluded from our shores. Not only the white toilers of America, but all our people, without respect to class or residence, are vitally interested in this menace to our social and industrial life from Asiatic quarters, and if this is to remain a white man's country, immediate steps should be taken to prevent Asiatic immigration of whatsoever character.

This national convention meets at a time when the angel of peace is hovering over the entire world and the nations of the world each day are strengthening those ties of friendship and common interest that will render war less frequent and permit mankind to turn their hands to the ly as to the declaration which is peaceable pursuits of life rather than likely to be made on the subject of

It was announced last night by friends of Charles A. Grady, of Tammany, would place Towne's name before the convention as the candidate for vice president.

Friends of Bryan attach much importance to the fact that Lewis Nixon was made chairman of the subcommittee on the injunction plank, while ex-Judge Parker was given the second place on the sub-committee. Nixon is known as a warm friend of Pryan and his prominence in Tammany activities is interpreted by the Bryan people that New York, in a final "show down," will support the man from Lincoln.

WATERS HEAVY WITH PERFUME. Remarkable Lake to Be Found in the Caspian District.

"Grasse, clinging to its Alp, high above the Mediterranean, is supposed to give the stranger a headache on account of its perfume at this season," said a perfumer. "Grasse makes the world's perfumes. You see mountains of flowers there, as, in a milling country, you see mountains of wheat. The odor is powerful, but as far as headaches-no!

"But in the Caspian district there is a lake so strongly perfumed that if the stranger boats on it or swims in it he really gets a headache. This lake's banks are of white salt crystals, Rs waters are mauve in color, and from it an odor of violets is exhaled. "It is Lake Mankishlak. I visited it to see if I couldn't bottle it up and put it on the perfume market. No go.

"You see, it is the presence of the seaweed Polydcystia violacea that gives the lake its hue and smell. When you bottle the waters the seaweed atoms, after a few days, die and rot. Then the odor changes from violet to-pah!

"But if you are ever in the Caspian, visit the Mankishlak peninsula and take a look at the lake. It is in its way as curious as the asphalt lakes of South America."

Alphabet in Bible Verse.

In the twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra can be found every letter of the English alphabet. It runs thus: "And I, even I, Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of God of Heaven, shall require of you, it be
